

Developer Portal

M2M Premier’s Developer Portal is the most comprehensive resource available for companies bringing network-enabled products to market. The section provides in-depth technical details on the industry’s standards, specifications, and other available resources.

Highlights in this section include:

- Sections dedicated to major development issues such as certification and cost analysis
- Full profiles of standards initiatives with specification downloads and analysis
- Contributed articles and feature articles about developing M2M-enabled devices
- Analysis and explanation of the regulatory and cellular certification processes

1. Development Guide

Learn what services are available to help developers design, make, and certify products with machine-to-machine connectivity.

2. Standards & Specs

A virtual one-stop-shop for standards and specifications related to machine-to-machine technology, including full profiles and updates on major initiatives.

